DETAILED ACTION

Oath/Declaration

The oath or declaration is defective. A new oath or declaration in compliance with 37 CFR 1.67(a) identifying this application by application number and filing date is required. See MPEP §§ 602.01 and 602.02.

The oath or declaration is defective because:

Non-initialed and/or non-dated alterations have been made to the oath or declaration. See 37 CFR 1.52(c).

Double Patenting

A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claim 1 of prior U.S. Patent No. 6464851. This is a double patenting rejection.

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See

In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 43-86 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-36 of U.S. Patent No. 6,464,851 B1. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims when read in light of the specification clearly encompass and render obvious the claimed method.

The method of the prior patent disclose the separation of blood protein from a pathogen, including the group presently claimed, comprising the steps of providing a biological liquid with potential pathogens present in an apparatus comprising an anode and a cathode and a separation means, such as the membranes claimed, positioned between said anode and said cathode, applying current between said anode and cathode causing one of said pathogens or said protein to pass said separation means and recovering the protein essentially free of pathogens (see claims 1-36). The reference further discloses the size of the pores (see claim 30).

The patent further claims the use of multiple membranes (see claims 10-18).

The reference does not disclose that the separation means is a filtration means, such as ultrafiltration or nanofiltration membrane. The membranes claimed in the prior patent would encompass the presently claimed range. Accordingly, the invention as a whole would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made that the present claims are obvious embodiments of the prior patent, because the prior patent discloses the broad range of materials being treated and membranes.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 43-86 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Mullon et al. (Mullon), article entitled, "Forced-Flow Electrophoresis of Proteins and Viruses.

Mullon discloses the claimed method and apparatus for the removal of either a pharmaceutically active molecule from a pathogen or a pathogen from a pharmaceutically active molecule in a biological liquids comprising the steps of providing a biological liquid, where pathogens are potentially present in an apparatus comprising an anode and a cathode and a separation means, such as the semi-permeable membrane, applying current between the anode and cathode to cause one of said pathogens or pharmaceutically active molecules to pass said separation means and recovering the molecule essentially free of pathogens (see pages 124-126). The reference discloses the selection of different cut-off values for the membranes, which would read upon the claimed membranes and different filtration characteristics (see pages 123-126). The reference further shows the use of at least four different chambers (see figures 1 and 2). The reference further discloses the separation of viruses from protein (see page 134).

Therefore, the claims are anticipated.
